2^d — from the change 5-6 — for the visit to Mr. Vincent

August 1833 - This day I was again in the presence of the President himself - which after the journey of some times - I say - I was and have in which you shall now be present
But what has happened?
Another two years of and - it is true and the stormy Ocean - but arranged friends - on their purses - to collect -

The happiest treasure of cheer, generosity and abundant circumstances - blessed - and so the first year passed The second has followed - what have I been wanting and striving for literary support from without - and within - coldness - unkindness - vulgar importunence and violence all around be sure - be thoughtful of - but God bless - and if the Abstract my Lady (Katherine Lady Coke) to the Lady Dowager.

Child Robert Grey's Confession.
Repentance and Death.

The Temptations and Trials
Which the Dowager.

Young Jerome sat beside the bed
On which lay the late Robert Lord.
As he lay, and should the sitting down And Jerome took the young man's When from a moment in his side,
The quivering hands he held,
The old man took the little hand,
And brought it to his side.

His hands were cold and stiff, and By some of life is gone,
And death has been about his eyes,
His words are almost done,
The former autumn was seen,
Now a pale autumn light
The summer is opening to the wind
With all things fair and bright.

He looked into his terrible face,
And sighed all over his face,
And with a quiver the gentle heart,
Believed that he was dead.

On the 11th went to a Morning concert at Reading heard Beethoven on the Harp — and More on the Violon — They both played very scientifically — but not pleasantly Beethoven has a remarkably good tone — and when he contradicted I play simple airs — it must be beautiful. More is wonderful — but his execution on the one string — gives me awful head-ache

I thought that a concert given here my pleasure to enjoy I should not be able to command my talents to sing here So when they had the chance his name
They had some choice music
I thought that the concert propose

We met once more - but only once He took himself away, But my mother never forgot his words,
 "Worth, her dying days."

He went to sea - no friend to find For he'd a broken heart,
 And then a letter came to hand Forgiveness to impart.
 He bore a Locket with his hair,
 It bore my mother's name
 He told her - with his dying breath That heart was all his claim.

My mother never smiled again
 For she was dead and gone Then only pleas are heard to be To listen to the wind For oh his bones in the deep
 No more mournfully shed tears
 And then his tears away and cease As go the silent blow & pray

My Mother never smiled again.

For she was bound to God.

And when arrived her dying bed,
With her friends in sorrow stood.

She looked into my father's face,

And ~~in~~ comfort to impart

Her words of energy divine

Stood deep in every heart.

Pushed from 12 — 13 her overfraught

Oh! Husband dear! I am greatly mourned Wish me to ask what I say.

The human race happiness nor peace

Since learning dying day.

I should have turned thee from thy wish

Resistance should have made.

For thou didst ever trust to me;

What was by me I may't do.

But when the hour of death is nigh
 And Heaven is in our view
 We see and feel that we have done
 What we ought not to do, So now - forgive me - Husband dear And bless me - child - she sighs Still whisper'd Bless me! Bless me! Dear Look'd up - and smiled and died.

My father's grief was ^{genuine} for another As my mother's had been mild He tore his hair - refused his food And said - "Thou shalt live!"
 And then he wept and cry'd aloud
 And soon - himself - away Longing to see - so late - both wife and child
 And their his dying day.

Poor father - could he take of you And staid he - falling tears Then poor old Robin and Aquila Then came some thought and fears For he drew his breath more fully And turned his face away
 As in a trembling voice he said
 Some young prettier days

Pleasures of memory. 'Oh! supremely blest, And sweetly priced beyond compare,
If the pure confines of thy tender breast Contain indeed the subject of thy love!
By me how envied. for to me,
The herald-still of misery,
Memory makes her influence known By sighs, and tears, and grief alone
I quit her as a friend, to whom belong
The cultured mourning heart, the rarest fragrance Of song.

The bliss of true misanthropy, of consolation,
Of gain or reward gone for ever by;
Of hopes too gently nursed, too modestly sought,
Of many a cause to wish, yet fear to die,
This whole, except the inductive fear
That she survives, outlives me here,
When "all the life of life" is fled?
What, but the deep, unbroken cloud,
That she beyond the grave remains her reign,
And realize the hell that priests and holden men feign.

Read the extraordinary story of Casper Flowers. confined in a dark cell & never watched till he was a Man - supposed to be the son of a Priest Rural Stonehope his Patron.

He would argue that strong old man and then he miserably said Blame not poor Robin James dear
When numbered with the dead,
It is too late for brother to learn What would I gladly see.
We all are tempted much to life
By gold and power & glory.

Remember nothing may James learn From old Thomas is that and all his virtues state he seems In every act to shine
In every rule correct that his they go

The Fair Maid of Perth

The Antiquary 2 Vols beautiful

My moments now are numbered -

Today no longer here.

But let the sound of thy sweet voice

My passing spirit cheer -

Thou placedst thy hand upon his heart

He pressed her & deeply sighed.

Looked in her face the light was Without a struggle died.

Conclusion.

More than a year had passed away

Since Jane was alone.

She helped the poor and friendless

Their sorrows were her own.

She sought the wretched and the poor.

And o'er her face a smile was shown.

Never a day passed when she was alone.

But numbers she retained,

And if their faults they came to tell

Then for their faults she grieved.

It was one day that the morning seemed strangely & seemed The thought of change was profound and bring all things to mind and as she sat - and smilingly Whilst I was unconscious felt A neighbor heard in - & song good and I am come to see.

James smile'd and said at this said
 You truly welcome here.
 Then I was thinking of the first Without a hope or fear But surely it was every morning
 With blessings come to mind Good feelings come, which not destined Then I became devoted again.

So tell your friends - pray quickly tell What happiness is there Then one whose hand brought you But blessings come more Tell tell the neighbors - there be So long in telling good, Whose love is warm and pure
 And make your promise good.

But said the neighbor cautiously Suppose I speak a word That once was dear and gentle dead While you your neighbors blame
 And should the one - whom you think dead
 Be living quickly say Shouldn't we be happy every one In ^{warmed} love and good doing day

These words were in the moment she As gentle the neighbour's fear.
The Jamie looked in such a way
As if she could not bear To comfort - the neighbour said This look! this look! Jim's here It's true - as I am standing here My Jamie is the dear.

Stop neighbour stop! from Jim This joy will break my heart.
She sank into the neighbour's arms Life struggled to depart.
But joy precludes the struggle & her Jamie is at her side.
His voice recalled her as he said
I've come to claim my bride.

Yes! said Jamie I will be Thy happy constant wife.
All former grief shall be forgot Our joy shall be for life
And our only happiness impart
To every one around Now lo! the dead is here alive.
Behold the lost is found.

May God be with me - and renew my heart for all his mercies - and more bless my endeavour and his loving that can and cannot so long in the state of my heart & mind may for some time be less less than long before.

17th Prepared for Beulah, and read till time of departure 1/2 2 - Left at 10 minutes before 3 - arrived on Beulah 1/2 past 4 - I was delighted with the day the spot but more than all with the woman - I had my fortune told the first time in my life I was guided of such foolery with a jeffrey - She told me I thought much & studied much - Alas! she need not see my face - She foretold my future happiness - Oh - Many Heaven also be propitious - and change the gloom into somewhat of the sunshine of life - We got into the stage I did not like it - I never do any thing from which I can see no exit - A gentleman trusting the same waggy woman offered to conduct us we were lost for some time to his great annoyance. The entrance begins by a bed of rocks - when we again found ourselves there, he took his leave regretting he had kept us so long on (Thames). We then attended our Party and enjoyed a most delightful Drive home - After which I finished Vol 3^d Volume of Harry Calverley -

Letter from H. to Susan Thanking you for your conversation when I came you on Thursday last, that you really forgot - on every thought you appear visions to your mind. I have written what I think. I am repeating the young of your little girl. I am there - as if you were sleeping and referring to that Letter, it will be open some time. I am writing to you all respecting her. I am your father brought her to her Uncle and you afterwards gave her a number of presents. That he was to take her back to her father - it is done ^{to her} him - ~~as~~ As I was about to accompany my Brother you thought that I am my child, and I am. That is what I wish all her friends are her friends.
I can do that, at the time it was not in your power to furnish her with clothes - as you wished for all she had seen her. I am ^{writing} to you. I am that of her. I am ^{writing} to you. I am him with every thing a child in good society ought to have for a very long voyage - without being able to wash for him on Board. ~~I supplied her with~~ I think the only things that were taken of her own were her little Coral Bead necklace &c. &c. & I did give her rather last brought her a glass mirror &c. &c. The Doll was preserved for her. Her dress was sent away sent with her necklace &c. &c. her clothes in them & her Dress - I also sent a variety of things from some good friends and I am not tell what which I did think ~~it~~ she might be happy at ~~the~~ she had been with me, without a piece of trouble for a long time -

I had all in my power to help her the her father came to see, but I had having given a written agreement.
I had no authority to detain her.
The only Mr. Butler the Lawyer to receive her, to whom she was given up by me in right of all those ~~glances~~^{glances} were there in regard -

The first of these is the fact that the human mind is not a tabula rasa. It is filled with ideas and impressions from the past. These ideas and impressions are the result of the human mind's interaction with the world. The human mind is not a passive receiver of information. It is an active participant in the process of knowledge. The human mind is a complex system of ideas and impressions. It is a system that is constantly changing and evolving. The human mind is a system that is constantly interacting with the world.
 The human mind is a system that is constantly learning and growing. The human mind is a system that is constantly adapting to the world. The human mind is a system that is constantly creating and destroying. The human mind is a system that is
 constantly changing and evolving. The
 constantly interacting with the world.

The last the British collection of bones in Europe this year in the north. They applied practical physiology - a new system was by observation to produce a new into each proposition - and he presented as correct. One of the first new maps has brought before him in both instances - without knowing the they were - he told them to be careful, keep a watch over them - & they were not to be trusted. After giving his advice as to what plan - viz. the best to counter each it - he over told - they had both done their work.

Miss Byam had visited him, & told her something was going on very early in a certain part of the land. That great care w^d be requisite in that particular spot, to preserve her reason - He then told her whole part of her life should be kept out of all such warning, she act, according

27 June 1908

28th July - 1800.

Time has flown although it has been drearly with me - and I find myself in the July of 30 - without having been able to record any thing but disappointments in my principal progress in life.

On this day I am Pilgrimage. I begin to do so with the intention of writing and doing all in my power to increase my income - Wrote to God - that I might be able to work and assist my poor Brother Charles. I begin now and daily efforts - if success depended on me one week I should be satisfied - but it does not - and the difficulties of Public ministry are almost insurmountable Still I hope.

August.

5 The first Sunday in the month. I received the sacrament from Dr. Dillon (Charles Street Chapel). In the evening I thought to call on Mrs. Parsons - to ask her interest with her husband in favor of my work in 3 volumes I have just finished - I call it "Virginia on the Royal Retreat near Windsor" I went on the Sunday as he generally goes out on that day, and I thought I could thus be the secure his interest through his wife - ^{was in the habit of} ~~who~~ remaining at home. I had not called on her for nearly a year, as I had been ill almost all the winter. When I received my invitation for her - she was away - Mrs. Howard - Miriam - she is no more - she died in Jan^y last - Mr. Howard is visiting with some friends - and the door being open I felt obliged to enter, which I did - The Son & Father rec^d and said they were just going to Sea. I must stay home to which I consented - Thinking to secure his interest if possible - A Mr & Mrs. Parsons were also there - The was going into the country by the Coach. Mr. Purson & young Mr. Howard went with him promising to be back in ten minutes. by the time I was ready - They were so, but in the interim Mr. Howard had proposed to me which offer I had declined of course - The whole affair from first to last appearing like a dream.

After this I could not expect much success for my work. The M-L was returned to me - a complete failure. " " and as the Title was considered a good one, a hint thrown out that it was possible that other 3 volumes would be written to it by Wendell's direction - It is a laborious but a due must be found - patience and perseverance the only remedies.

- 10 Mr Wedge and a friend of his, going to the Remond - and called upon me. I must improve my letters! A wonderful letter for Sunday.
- 11 Mr Parsons and Mr Howard's friends called upon me - and took Tea - Perhaps and then opening for my M. L. - but time will tell!
- 17 Went with Madame Kautlin - bought out 40 £ the remainder of my money in Stock - Let Madame Kautlin 20 £

as I do not feel well -

3 Not very well - Read Mrs Trollope's "Romans of Vienna" - the 3 volumes.

Remember it an entire failure. An Austrian nobleman marries a young English girl - is tired of her declares the marriage illegal - gets her child - which he will not return unless she avows the marriage in any way acknowledged.
He marries - She matches the vow - gets her child and keeps it. But the old man after being a prisoner - being of great escape - and produces the marriage certificate to the Prime Lady Prime Minister to the Emperor - Emperor of Austria - The Count Albenberg who has caused all the violence goes on prisoner is even invited to the Paines table. because he is fond of good living and has no

Dinner ordered at home - and by the same good & just Prince is advised to make a little longer whilst the matter blows over - the old nurse Wagner who has suffered all - and does all - is again thought of - those who imprisoned and sold her - are forgotten - for the story is forgotten or at least forgotten - Pass - Burse - & Pennsylvania justice - O. S. H. E. - Jury - or we are - Prince - W. S. H. E. and a tale - badly told - by the Trotter -

4th called on Miss Jones not at home - I was still - could not do better reminded me - but read - till the 10th - When Madame Martin's little girl

 Extra from Lady Lou - My dear mother Charles -

Charles Allen is dated 31 March 1880. and altho' he is in any thing but affluence - still it is the best letter I have rec'd from him for many years indeed I may say it is the best letter I have rec'd since he has been in Don Diemans Land - May God almighty - bless and be with him and Oh! may his latter days be happier than those that have passed May some little balme of success be poured into my cup - so that I may be able to assist and thus prove to him how willingly I would have given my all to his poor fellow. I wish his various troubles - and misfortunes were less grievous than any I have ever heard of - Mine have been strange and various but his!
Oh! mysterious - is life -"

1839

Another year has opened - upon me - O God! for what am I spared? For sorrows sickness - and - chearless poverty & near and mine - there a few days at a time - and then - ill - many - and with a broken spirit - seeking to pursue a track in which success I must state certain if I had but fair play - but - disappointment appears to be my portion in all my undertakings - and why? - Not I learn from the word - for God Thunders my heart was early given to Him and, Thine? Wrought appeared to me - worth perhaps lost the power of doing good - and that has been denied me - though I care not for trouble - nor for exertion to attain that power - Beyond that the beautiful sky and the flowing ocean, seemed to be all that I longed for - Wherefore then O God thou hast made me thus?
Wherefore has my spirit yearned in vain, and heft been to sorrow and disappointment?

1st & 2nd Did nothing but write a few letters - confined to my room - Jan^y - Burrows & Mr Burrows spent one evening with me - and we went over my poor Brother's (Charles) misfortunes together - and it seemed 1 This day I was home & the lady (the lady) was perfectly well. I had been to see her in the morning & found her very well - furnished her with a letter from Mr. Wood - invitation to a party on the 1st of July - I had from her a letter giving an account of her last journey, I had from Egypt home -

The high-minded Maids of Scotland's proud Land.

Written in London the 15th Feb^y 1839.
The day on which the remains of the Lady Flora Thurstings were conveyed to their last ^{rest} home in Scotland.

The high-minded Maids of Scotland's proud Land.

There is a sound from a distance of sorrow and grief
A sound of a bursting heart — seeking relief.

Tho' many the mourners, a Mother is chief.
For the high-minded Maids of Scotland's proud Land.

There is a sound as of voices when heard from afar
The sound as of numbers when hastening along,
And their sorrow seems mingled with something of joy.

To the high-minded Maids of Scotland's proud Land.

They bear her — their Love and their Honor to Shroud,
To the long home of darkness, where all flesh must go,
When the Silence of midnight looks on their woe.

To the high-minded Maids of Scotland's proud Land.

The fought-like her Father for Honor and fame.

The fought for the prize of an unsullied name.

The fought and she conquer'd, when death look'd on his

The high-minded Maids of Scotland's proud Land.

She died — in the cause of a Maiden's fair fame.

She died — like a Thursting who never knew shame.

She died — and bright glory recorded her name,
The high-minded Maids of Scotland's proud Land.

And tho' no more ⁶
Then weep not for her! for she is at rest Her motto was "Juvile" - "Linn" her crest And now she rejoices in realms of the blest
The high minded maiden of Scotia's proud Land

For tho' no mortal eye could see, Nor mortal ear could hear Bright Spirits hover'd o'er her bed, (such And ~~told~~ ^{behold} her ~~not~~ ^{was no} to fear

They whisper'd of their presence And of their love and ^{affection} care And that they came to bear her thence To Courts of bliss above.

They told her of ⁹ The Spirit
The Great and Mighty One
The God Almighty - Comforter - And Everliving Son -

And then as they ¹⁰ bent o'er her To catch her fleeting breath
They ~~shook~~ ^{shook} ~~of~~ ^{of} Jesus at her staff Through the shadowy vale of death

The Spirit shook off its burthen of care and sprang upward to breathe its own ^{air} nature And myriads of Angels awaited it there

The high minded Maiden of Scotia's proud Land
Then weep not for her ¹¹ her ^{anguish} ^{is} ^{over} ^{her} ^{happy} ^{share}
And she ⁱⁿ ^{her} ^{happy} ^{share} ^{of} ^{the} ^{happy} ^{share}
And she ⁱⁿ ^{her} ^{happy} ^{share} ^{of} ^{the} ^{happy} ^{share}
The high minded Maiden of Scotia's proud Land.
